

Building Positive Relationships at Work

January

Visit your home page starting
January 15th:
www.caresworklifesolutions.com

Available anytime, any day, your Employee Assistance Program is a free, confidential program to help you balance your work, family, and personal life.

ONLINE SEMINAR

Being able to build supportive relationships is half the battle. Often the key to our success lies not so much in our subject matter expertise, but in how we get our relationships to work for us. Healthy workplace relationships not only make our work enjoyable, they make our work better.

This session focuses on seeing destructive patterns in our relationships and how we can alter our approach to make those relationships work for us.